

So You Would Know Brooklyn Tabernacle Choir

Choir      How many times must I prove how much I love you?
              How many ways must my love for you I show?
              How many times must I rescue you from trouble
              For you to know just how much I love you?
              /Repeat/

Chorus A   (Didn't I) wake you up this morning
              (You were) clothed in your right mind
              When you walked up on a problem
              (Didn't I) step right in on time
              (When you were) weak along life's journey
              My angel carried you
              So you would know just how much I love you

Verse        How many days must I be a fence all around you?
              How many nights must I wipe your tears away?
              How many storms must I bring you safely through
              For you to know just how much I love you?

Chorus B   (Didn't I put) food on your table
              Show up when your bills were due
              When the pains were racking your body
              (Didn't I send) healing down to you
              (When you were) lost in sin and sorrow
              I died to set you free
              So you would know just how much I love you
              /Repeat 2x/

End         So you would know
              So you would know how much
              So you would know just how much I love you
